1. Hungarian infantry of battalion strength is quartered in the Pavillon barracks.
2. The old Honvéd Hussár barracks between Széchenyi Street and the little railway station is a grain depot and serves no military purpose.
3. The transport troops barracks in Holló János, formerly Károly Ferencz Street, are under reconstruction; they were occupied by the Russians until 1949 and were badly damaged by bombing (sic) attacks. About 800 workmen are employed on the barracks, which are also being enlarged by new construction. The work is to be finished by the end of 1951.
4. Some 15 Russian officers, including staff officers, are quartered in the villa at the corner of Gassen Margit and Holló János Street.
5. Hungarian infantry is quartered in the Péterfia Street barracks, behind the Military District. They are of battalion strength, but have no heavy weapons. The recruiting center headquarters for Hajdu County (komitat) is also located here.
6. The artillery barracks on Szabadság, formerly Kassai Street, are being repaired and enlarged. More than 1,000 men worked here during the summer of 1951.
7. The AVH barracks are in Piacz Street, not far from the partisan "Fighters for Freedom" (SZHSZ) Headquarters.
8. A course for instructors in gliding and light plane flying is conducted at the light plane airfield (Sportflugplatz) at Hajduszoboszló. About 50 light planes are kept here, of the "Fecske", "Prága" and "Levente" types.
